Subject: Support Ordinance 220961
Date: Monday, February 6, 2023 9:14:23 AM

My name is Courtney Young and I am a KCMO resident.

We need to do everything we can to combat the climate crisis, and create a livable, healthier future for ourselves and our families. That includes holding developers accountable for what they do with land and trees in KC. Without intervention, the city's tree canopy will lose 330 acres a year. Growing urban forest was one of the strategies listed in the city's climate plan. Plans mean nothing if we don't act on them. Urban forests help to reduce air and water pollution. Older trees sequester much more carbon than newly planted ones. Trees help with heating and cooling costs. Trees can improve physical and mental health and strengthen social connections. Our mayor supports this ordinance, and so does Mothers Out Front Kansas City.
